

Congratulations to the young men and parents/guardians of the new batch of young ROYALIANS. You have every reason to feel proud of yourself and to savour this moment. Enjoy it!

However, young men know that the journey has now started. Secondary School education is a totally different experience from what you would have grown accustomed to.

I want you to totally immerse yourself in this new experience though. You have an opportunity to enjoy a truly wonderful educational experience, where holistic development will become the focal point of your life.

The fusion of academic and co curricular goals will be designed and executed so as to maximize your full potential. Do not rob yourselves of these numerous opportunities. Remember, true education takes place in and out of the classroom, especially these days with the strides in technology.

Artificial intelligence is going to be a real part of your world. However, ensure that you develop your own "grey matter" so that it can be complemented by AI, and not totally dependent on it.

Once again, I congratulate you all, as I ask the adults in this community to support the College in ALL avenues. Do not be absentee parents at stages in this journey. These young men need you!!!

May God continue to bless you all and may this journey at the ROYAL place be a truly enjoyable and unforgettable one.

Magnum est QRC!!!!

David Simon

Principal, Queen's Royal College